The Future of Media Production

nm2 is a collaborative research project which unites leading creative and technology experts from across Europe to address a great opportunity for businesses and consumers: how to develop compelling new media forms which take advantage of the unique characteristics of broadband networks.

nm2 is about creating a variety of new media genres using all of the facilities of modern broadband communication and interactive terminals. The project will create new production tools for the media industry that will allow the easy production of non-linear broadband media that can be personalised to suit the preferences of the individual user. Viewers will be able to interact directly with the medium and influence what they see and hear according to their personal tastes and wishes.

nm2 receives funding from the European Commission in the EU Framework Programme 6.
